DETAILED ACTION

1. This application has been examined. An informational disclosure statement (IDS) filed February 11, 2004, has been considered. Claims 1-12 are pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-3 and 7-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gauld et al. Note the spring 18 biased valve 16 disposed in a supporting dome 10. The valve 16 reciprocates on a stem 28. A “screen element” filters fluid through 50 is shown. A clamp element includes threaded connection 42. The screen element is disposed in a hood. Claims 7 and 8 are operational parameters deemed design choice.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 3753

5. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 148 USPQ 459, that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or unobviousness.

6. Claims 4-6, 11 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gauld et al in view of Reiter. Gauld et al disclose the claimed invention except for the recitation of the material of construction of the filter of Gauld et al to be a Polyamide” as taught by filter 61 of Reiter. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the filter of Gauld et al to be made of a “polyamide”, as taught by Reiter in order to provide a filter that is able to withstand its environment of use (i.e., in a internal combustion engine) .
